FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Adobe and Box Streamline Seamless and Secure Collaboration in the Cloud

Hong Kong — 15 October, 2019 — Adobe (Nasdaq: ADBE) has announced a plan to partner with Box (NYSE:BOX) to provide seamlessly access to the full collaboration and editing power of Acrobat to stay productive through Adobe Acrobat PDF and e-signature tools in Box. The new integrations enhance collaborative workflows for enterprises, making it easier and more secure to work with digital documents in the cloud.

Since 2016, Adobe and Box have enabled users to quickly and seamlessly access, edit, and complete PDF-centric tasks and workflows, right within Box. The new Box and Adobe Acrobat integration will enable users to seamlessly open PDF files from Box directly in the Acrobat web viewer and access essential PDF and e-signature tools so they can complete their workflows from anywhere, on any device.

With the new integration, users will be able to take actions directly from Box to:

1. Create high-quality PDFs that preserve fonts, formatting, and layouts;
2. Modify and organize existing PDFs with the available delete, reorder, and rotate capabilities;
3. Combine multiple file types, including PDF, Microsoft Office, image, text, and Adobe design into one that you can use for archiving or distribution;
4. Export PDFs into editable Microsoft Word, Excel, PowerPoint, or RTF files that preserve fonts, formatting, and layouts;
5. Send a document for signature and track its progress from the Box Recommended Apps experience, a rich list of curated, contextual applications surfaced for users whenever they preview a file in Box; and
6. Capture e-signature activity in the Box Activity Stream, a central place to view all the activity related to a file both on Box and across all third-party applications.

All work done with Adobe Acrobat tools will be saved back to Box, preserving versions and making it easy to share and collaborate on the file and related workflows directly in the Box experience.

Adobe and Box are committed to work closely on future integrations with Adobe Acrobat and Adobe Sign for mobile and web users to meet the needs of today's rapidly evolving workforce.

Availability

The Adobe and Box integrations will be available next year.
