Adobe also placed #4 on the overall 2021 Singapore Best Workplaces list

Singapore, 3 December 2021 – Adobe today announced it has been ranked third place on the inaugural 2021 Singapore Best Workplaces™ in Technology List (Medium & Large category). The accreditation recognizes Adobe's dedication and commitment in creating a highly trusted work environment that employees are proud of.

As a first-time participant in the Great Place to Work® (GPTW) Singapore awards, Adobe also came in 4th place on the overall 2021 Singapore Best Workplaces List (Medium & Large category). Simon Dale, Adobe's managing director for Southeast Asia, received the award from Deputy Prime Minister Heng Swee Keat at the Singapore Best Workplaces™ Summit held last evening, attended by close to 300 guests at Marina Bay Sands.

The inaugural Singapore Best Workplaces in Technology List was launched by GPTW this year to recognize exemplary companies in the information and communication technologies industry. Companies that have been successfully placed on the list are purpose-driven and adopt a people-first mindset, and have consistently shown that authentic care and employee well-being need not be compromised for business growth.

"As we move into the second year of the pandemic, we see fatigue and weariness set in in workplaces globally. Singapore Best Workplaces have continued to prioritize the well-being of their people and found a way to navigate the hybrid world to make it work for both the business and their people," said Evelyn Kwek, Managing Director, Great Place to Work ASEAN & ANZ.

"I'm very proud to see Adobe named a Singapore Best Workplace. We have a unique 'Kampong Spirit' at Adobe Singapore, and our people are our most important asset. We invest not only in tools and resources to help them be successful, but also in creating a conducive work culture and environment where everyone feels respected," said Simon Dale, Managing Director, Southeast Asia, Adobe.

"At Adobe, we believe that our differences make us stronger. Our Adobe For All vision guides how we hire, manage, and support the growth of all our employees, and helps us build a diverse and inclusive environment where everyone can actively participate and do their best, most creative work. We emphasize ongoing learning and development, engagement, and well-being to ensure every employee can reach their full potential," said Sarah Dunn, Head of Employee Experience, Asia Pacific, Adobe.
