Boost productivity through powerful business integrations
with Adobe Creative Cloud for teams.

As a creative leader, you're under pressure to deliver high volumes of diverse and compelling content. But in addition to your creative tools, you work in dozens of apps every day, and constant toggling between them reduces content velocity and lowers your productivity.
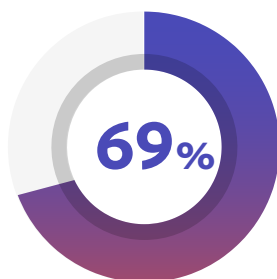

Collaborating across teams only adds to this complexity. Without integrated tools that keep everyone aligned, creative and business professionals tend to work in different apps and struggle to find effective feedback channels. Miscommunications—and missed communications—become all but inevitable, dragging down everyone's performance. Morale flounders. Innovation takes a back seat. Finally, growth hits a stalemate as your fragmented tools and workflows hold you back from greater productivity and engagement.

If creative teams are to meet rising expectations for content, they must decrease workflow friction across apps, teams, and workspaces. Integrating creative and business apps into a seamless workflow helps creative teams deliver more assets quickly—even with limited resources.
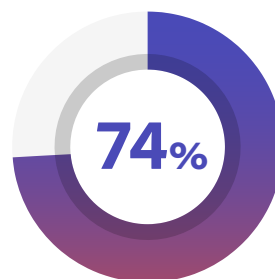

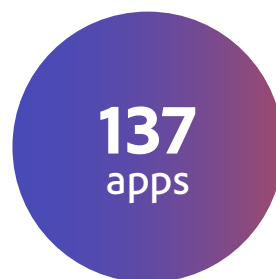

Top obstacles to productivity:

Creative Cloud for teams helps you:

- Simplify collaboration to bypass bottlenecks and shorten production periods. Creative Cloud integrations with tools like Microsoft Teams and Slack make sharing projects and organizing feedback with business stakeholders fast and easy. Meanwhile, Creative Cloud Libraries gives anyone in your organization instant access to the most up-to-date versions of approved brand assets in Adobe apps and many of your team's other essential tools.

- Create faster than ever. Automate time-sucking tasks—from retouching skin in Adobe Photoshop to specifying artboard dimensions in Adobe Illustrator—with thousands of plugins designed to help you work with amazing speed.

- Streamline your workflow. No more downloading files to your computer only to upload them in a different app. With Creative Cloud integrations, you can import assets directly into PowerPoint slideshows, Word documents, and other file types.

- Keep everyone up to date. Eliminate the need to message individuals or groups every time you update a shared asset. Instead, connect assets in Creative Cloud to your team's chat channels, keeping everyone notified of breaking changes and new comments, with rich context so you can communicate with clarity and reduce churn.
