

ADOBE® FLASH® PLATFORM

Innovation that stands out, technology that fits in

Adobe Flash Platform is an integrated set of technologies surrounded by an established ecosystem of support programs, business partners, and enthusiastic user communities. Together, they provide everything needed to create and deliver the most compelling applications, content, and video to the widest possible audience.

The Flash Platform enables decision-support systems and multistep business applications that improve productivity and user acceptance, as well as compelling web applications, content, and video that monetize your assets and increase brand loyalty.

A complete system

The Flash Platform combines professional tools, an open source framework, ubiquitous clients, and scalable servers. Build applications and content from prototype to deployment, and produce video from planning to playback.

Expressiveness, consistency, and reach

Established, ubiquitous clients enable consistent delivery of expressive content and applications across the widest reach of browsers, operating systems, and devices. Reach over 98% of Internet-connected computers and over 800 million devices.

Agile design and development

Integrated tools and flexible workflows support independent but synchronized front-end design and back-end development. Get started quickly and go to market faster with rapid prototyping and iterative development.

Easy integration

Compatibility with leading tools and browsers, support for open standards, and cooperative development with major industry partners all mean that the Flash Platform easily integrates with your existing web, Java™, and .NET infrastructures. Leverage support for Eclipse, Ajax frameworks, web services, and application servers such as Adobe ColdFusion® and Websphere.
